Important News Gathered from Abroad for the Benefit of Our Readers.

There are now 103 children and two widows at the Odd Fellows' Widows and Orphans Home at Lexington.

Two negroes are in the race for Republican nominations for county offices in Christian county, one for Corcoran and the other for Representative.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Seitz, 703 West South Street are happy over the birth of a girl weighing 9 pounds. This is the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter, and her name is Dorothy.—Lexington Herald.

A State general convention of the "dry" forces of Kentucky will be held at Marcus Lindsey Memorial Church, in Louisville, on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 20th and 21st, for the purpose of mapping out plans for a vigorous campaign looking to the passage of a state-wide prohibition bill by the next Legislature.

The snipe hunt as used to be pulled off by leaving the victim holding the sack in the dark, damp marsh to catch the snipe, was not a dangerous affair. But over at Georgetown last Friday Luke Abbett and Ira Shuhart were out snipe hunting and the latter shot off the foot of the former, it being necessary to amputate it.

With a farewell to his roommate, who was standing in the door gazing at him with horror, Arthur Hunsman of Scottsville, fired a bullet through his head and fell on the floor by his bed, never to speak again. In spite of the work of several physicians, who made a desperate effort to save him, it is thought that he cannot live more than a few hours, and his death is expected at any time.

For over twenty years Mrs. C. S. Lamb suffered from what she thought was rheumatism. She had consulted specialists and expended a small fortune for medicines, but no relief. Mr. Lamb suffered from what she thought right leg, from it protruded a sharp point. It proved to be a piece of needle.

Mrs. Lamb then remembered that over twenty years ago she broke a needle under her finger nail, a part of which was extracted at the time.

William Green, convicted of murder in Louisville must hang on the same scaffold with William Carter on April 16. Gov. Willson declined to interfere in the Greene case, refusing an application for a commutation of the sentence. Green wrote to Gov. Willson, asking that his sentence be changed to life imprisonment, and the letter made so great an impression on the Governor that he sent to Louisville for the record. This he read, but he reached the conclusion that the verdict of the jury was right and proper, and the commutation is refused.

Glasgow, Ky., April 1.—A party of hunters from this section have been hunting in what is known as the "knobs," some eight miles from Glasgow and they report that the wild dogs which abound in the caves and hills of that section have been exterminated or if any of them were in the hills they were never discovered. This will be glad news to the people of both Hart and Barren counties as these wild animals have been a terror to the sheep growers for fifteen or twenty years.

The dogs keep in hiding in the day time and went in droves in the night some thirty strong and in many instances slaughtered an entire flock of sheep in a single hour and when pursued would disappear in the caves. The not only destroyed sheep, but devoured half grown calves, pigs and all kinds of fowls. The farmers have been making war on them for several years.

Frankfort, Ky.—A jury in the Franklin Circuit Court found G. W. Rowland guilty of embezzlement and fixed his punishment at one year in the penitentiary. If he does not get a new trial Rowland will go to the prison where he once was a trusted employee as one of the prisoners.

Rowland's defense was that the money which was taken from the convicts was not done without the knowledge and consent of the men who owned the money. Rowland was treasurer for the convicts and kept their funds. He took $1,800, expecting to pay it back. Much sympathy is felt here for Rowland, as it is believed that he did not intend to steal the money. An appeal from the verdict will be taken. Several of the jurors wanted to give Rowland a year in jail but they were over-ruled.

It was brought out during the trial that acting Gov. Cox's plan to pardon a number of the aged and afflicted convicts who had good records was responsible for the bringing to light of Rowland's juggling with the fund.

Kelly Kash, Commonwealth's Attorney of the Twentieth Kentucky Judicial district, while here, announced that the second trial of Beach Hargis for murder of his father, Judge James Hargis, will be called at Irvine, Estill county, April 19.

Mrs. Luella Hargis, the boy's mother, it is said, is doing everything possible to prevent the case coming to trial at this time, believing, it is said, that his recent escapades which caused his bondsmen to surrender him and return him to jail, may have prejudiced the public against him to such an extent that it would be better for the trial to go over for a while in order to let this feeling subside.

It is stated that the Commonwealth will combat any attempt to secure a continuance. United States Senator W. O. Bradley, who it was reported had withdrawn from the defense of the young patriot, has not done so but will direct the trial as chief of counsel for the defense. The previous trial resulted in a hung jury.

W. H. Wright, a colored lawyer, announced his candidacy as Representative from the Fifth legislative district. Wright lives in the Tenth ward, heavy Republican stronghold.

hold, where members of his race predominate, and says he is in the race to win.

His announcement is subject to the action of the Republican party.—Courier Journal.

One of the greatest curiosities we have ever seen in Carrollton is at the office of Judge Oscar Kipping. It is the embalmed body of a bird dog that five years ago was known to every citizen of Carrollton. His name was Tramp, and he belonged to Barney Holtselaw. He was killed five years ago being run over by an ice wagon. Judge Kipping took the body and embalmed it without removing any part of the dog. He used what is called the arterial method of embalming. The dog to-day is standing erect and has a perfectly natural look. There is no odor of any kind given out by the body, and even the look in his eyes is natural as life. There is no appearance of decay anywhere and a hundred years from to-day the appearance of the dog will be unchanged. The work is equal to that done by the Egyptians in preparing their dead for burial.—(Carrollton Democrat.)

Hyden, Ky.—Speed Spurlock, who was shot three times in a general row on head of Cutshin creek died of his wounds, and Clem Joseph, who was beaten over the head with a pistol, is in a very serious condition. Robin Baker's wound is not very serious. Several more were engaged in the fight, and it is not known who fired the shots that killed Spurlock, as there were over 100 shots fired.

There has been no effort so far by the county officers to arrest any one engaged in the tragedy.

Spurlock was a son of Chas. Spurlock, who played a conspicuous part in the old Howard feud in Harlan county, and was considered a very game man. Efforts are being made to get the old man Spurlock here to see his son before he is buried and it is feared that there will be more trouble.

A pot of money containing it is believed, $5,500 was found Thursday by two workmen, James and Leslie Cox, while digging the foundation for a new cottage on a lot on Colfax street Lexington, Ky., which their brother in law J. C. Gooch, bought for $100 two weeks ago. The pot was an old fashioned iron cooking utensil and the money was in gold and silver coins. They filled the pot nearly to the brim and were protected from the earth and dampness by a brass cover such as is customarily used on a cooking vessel of that kind.

The wonderful recovery of a Rockcastle county woman, who has been helpless for thirty-five years, is told in the following from the Danville Advocate:

After spending thousands of dollars seeking relief from a strange disease which so disabled her that she had not walked for thirty-five years, Mrs. Elizabeth Sowder, of the little village of Broadhead, over the Lincoln-county line, in Rockcastle, bounded from her carriage Sunday morning and shouting walked down the aisle and extended the hand of fellowship to a number of young converts.

For years she had been a devoted member of the Methodist church, and some weeks ago the Rev. J. B. Barnes, an evangelist, began a series of meetings, and Mrs. Sowder was wheeled in to the church every night. On account of the inconvenience of passing her vehicle through the aisle she was stationed in the rear of the building. For thirty-five years she had been helped in and out of bed, and literally speaking, had never walked a step. Only at times was she able to sit up in her little carriage. At the climax in the sermon she arose from her carriage and walked down the aisle to the pulpit, in front of which the converts were standing. Her sudden recovery almost created a panic in the little church, so thrilled was the congregation. Every one of whom knew how totally helpless Mrs. Sowder had been for more than a generation. Since Sunday she has been walking around the house and has practically discarded her carriage. She got into her carriage without help and posed for a photographer.

Mrs. Sowder was born in Scott county, Va., but has been living in Kentucky for fifty years. She is seventy-one years of age and lives with her son, a leading business man at Broadhead.

According to Thousandsticks, no one can be found to hold down the job of Police Judge at Hyden, Leslie county, and the paper calls for volunteers in the following:

Hyden is a town incorporated, but for the last several years the Town Board of Trustees has not been able to get a Police Judge. It is a very good citizen and has a peaceable disposition. He is a native of the State and has been a resident of the State for many years.

Judge of Hyden. The best men in this town and the ones that are most interested in the welfare are the ones, the farthest away from the job. It looks as if they could see the importance it is to every individual and the general prosperity of the town that they should lay hold. It certainly would be worth something to the town to have a government of its own to punish such violations as on last Monday.

The county officials are evidently playing a very light hand in quelling crimes of this kind and are showing clemency for one cause and another, causing more harm than good. It might be that a part of the county officials are making an effort to do their duty, but are helpless on account of others, and if such be the case they should raise a protest and go after the officials who are failing in this respect.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

A shooting affray occurred at Leon, Carter county, in which Curtis Belew was instantly killed, and his brother, Lewis Belew, dangerously wounded. Walter Lee, who did the shooting, made good his escape. Mr. Lee, Sr., the father of Walter and of Mrs. Belew, has been placed under arrest for complicity in the killing. Both families are quite prominent in that section of Carter county, and the tragedy has created great excitement all about Leon.

Differences between Belew and his wife led to the tragedy.

The sight of a negro chasing his stepdaughter with a shot gun along the boulevards of Pikeville afforded excitement for the denizens of that village a day or two since.

Sharpsburg, Ky.—Samuel Jackson, Deputy United States Marshal, with a posse of well-chosen men, found and destroyed a moonshine whiskey distillery together with about 400 gallons of beer and forty gallons of whiskey. The distillery was almost new and was located in a well-chosen place under the ledge of a large rock where access to it was very difficult, in a range of cliffs a few miles east of here. Ben Black and Andrew Brown were arrested as operators of the still.

It was thought by a few social fellows that Logan was just the place for a club, where a cold bottle or a "jigger" of liquor could be disposed of just the thing. One of the men that inaugurated the move, and his bartender, know it won't pay now.

The late session of Circuit Court got after them and assessed a fine against the gentlemen sufficiently large to eat up the profits for a year or two. This case may go to the Court of Appeals. The fact is it don't pay to fool with liquor in Logan.

In the last five years those who have tried it have lost out. Thousands of indictments have been found against the men who monkey with the demon drink, and the bootlegger who formerly prospered cannot now carry on his trade without stumbling up against the law very soon. And while there is a saloon four miles away at Holden, strangers cannot easily procure the stuff that inebriates there. The day of the moonshiners is about over, and he will have to seek other pastures if he desires to succeed. The courts here have made it too hot for these individuals.

Three men were killed by a dynamite explosion, a short distance from Blue Sulphur, W. Va., twelve miles east of Huntington.

The accident by which the three men lost their lives was one of the most shocking that has ever occurred in this section.

From reliable information concerning the affair it appears that the three men had drilled a hole in a rock, seventeen feet in depth, and
